A Frightful Adventure on Niagara River—One Man Drowned and Two Wonderfully Saved.

The Buffalo Express gives a graphic and thrilling account of one of the most perilous adventures ever recorded It appears that Wm A Thompson, Vice President of the Erie & Niagara Railroad, and a man named Warren, who resided at Prescott, C W, and a colored ferry boy, attempted to cross Niagara river from Fort Erie to Black Rock in a row boat, after the steam ferry boat had suspended her trips on account of the ice They succeeded in almost reaching the American shore, when they were caught in the ice and the boat crushed The Express says

The three immediately leaped out upon a cake of ice in front at hand which proved to be but a small one, scarcely larger than a door, and drew the boat partially upon it after them Their hope was in being able to turn the craft bottom upwards and mount its keel in which position they might be floated by it but the mass was not large enough to permit such an operation Mr Thompson then attempted to hoist out the boat with his cap, but while doing so, the boy Hart cried out that the ice was upon them again and they had barely time to throw themselves into the half filled boat when the piece upon which they had stood was crushed by another mass coming down on it An instant more and the boat was also struck turned bottom upwards and Mr Thompson and Mr Warren plunged into the water The negro boy succeeded in leaping upon an ice cake Mr Thompson sank once and came up when he clutched the boat, made his way to its stern and climbed upon the keel Here he saw his companion Warren sinking for the last time a short distance away, and drowning before his eyes while he was utterly powerless to help He had scarcely witnessed this, when death rushed upon himself again The boat was once more struck and rolled over Again he sank and again, on rising, he clutched the boat which again had righted itself Climbing into its stern which sank with his weight two or three feet below the surface, he sat for a time with the water up to his chin

By this time it had long grown dark He could see but little about him Presently a cake of ice drifting down upon him he put out his hand to ward it away and feeling it to be several inches thick and apparently of some size he concluded it best to escape if possible from the boat to the ice He very nearly failed in doing so barely reaching his breast upon the edge of the cake when he sprang from the boat and finding it impossible to lift his body at first that position Providentially however the boat in rising just touched his foot and gave him a slight push forward after which he was enabled by long and exhausting effort, to crawl upon the cake There he stood upright and not knowing the size of his ice raft dare not move Falling the boy Hartlett he found him still afloat upon his bit of ice a hundred or two yards away loudly engaged in almost frantic prayer

And now began the wonderful voyage of the two down the river through the darkness and the storm of freezing sleet which fell upon their frail rafts of ice Those who were out Saturday evening will remember what a bitter night it was A fine rain driven by keen north winds stung the face of the traveler and caused everything exposed with a quick mail of ice To all this pelting storm these wretched castaways were drifting along, the cold currents of the Niagara with the horrid dread of imminent death to freeze their in urs within them were exposed for three morrl hours Mr Thompson had lost both cap and gloves His clothing was frozen into the rigidness of iron armor, and he became incapable of motion except as he slightly swung his arms in keep them flexible All that he could do for himself was to shout the cry for help which he did steadily with the whole strength of his lungs for hours Fortunately, possessed of a magnificent physique in every respect his voice was capable of the exertion Once somewhere in the vicinity of Tower Black Rock he received a response from shore but to his appeal for rescue the voice out of the darkness answered that it had no oars and could do nothing The miserable Cole, or Morris, who heard and hailed, seemed to have made no effort to rouse his neighborhood and set its energies to work for the rescue of the perilled men who appealed to him

And so they drifted on beyond Black Rock beyond Strawberry Island past the head of Grand Island and steadily onward toward those currents of the great cataract where no hand could save them Steadily the cry for "help" rang out across the water and through the black night and no ear heard and no tongue answered Three hours had passed—seven miles of the river traversed—It was nine o'clock of the night Hope began to die in the heart of Mr Thompson, stout and strong as it was He called to his companion, the negro boy and gave him a message for his wife and children, if it should be his lot to escape His thoughts as he describes them were very quaint and curious They were too busy to give an opportunity for fear, and death was faced calmly and coolly

And so they drifted steadily down, between Grand Island and the American shore, until Tonawanda was passed and the last houses upon either shore from which help could come, before help should be too late were going by But there, at the last by the good Providence of God help did come The shouts were heard on the Grand Island shore Lights began to move from house to house The neighbors were running together Presently the gleam of a lantern moved upon the river and they knew that boats were coming out

Mr Thompson, when reached had to be rolled into the boat like a log He was taken off by Mr Charles Poplar and Mr George Gillie Another boat manned by Mr William W Blackney and Mr John A Bacon, rescued the boy Hartlett The boy, being thinly clad had nearly perished when taken off but Mr Thompson, a man of large, robust frame and great vitality felt himself capable of enduring an hour or two more of bitter trial Astonishing to say neither were seriously frozen and Mr Thompson, whom we saw yesterday appears little the worse for his extraordinary experience

Mr Warren, who was drowned was an elderly man of about fifty five years of age He resided at Prescott C, W, where, we understand, he leaves a family

Dismissal of Sweeney.

Gen Thos W Sweeney, a Major in the regular and Major General in the volunteer service of the United States, has been dismissed from the army for "absence without leave"

It seems that he was elected Secretary of War and generalissimo of the Fenegans, and being stationed with his regiment at Nashville, made application for leave of absence to visit the Head Center at New York Maj Gen Thomas, commanding the Department of Tennessee, refused to grant it Thereupon Gen Sweeney took French leave, and without permission absented himself from his regiment Whereupon, for this act of gross insubordination and violation of military discipline, the Secretary of War dismissed him from the service of the United States Major Sweeney was a brave officer, and fought gallantly during the war, and was popular in the army It is very much to be regretted that he has so foolishly made a shipwreck of his military prestige How the idea could ever have found lodgment in his brain that an officer in the American army was at liberty to accept a commission in a filibustering organization, to make war on a nation with which we are at peace, is beyond our comprehension

A FEW days ago while a railroad train was stopping at Gordonsville, Va, to leave the mail, the mail agent, a northern man, was assaulted by a mob, who declared that no Yankee should run on their roads The affair being reported to the Postmaster-General, he immediately struck Gordonsville from the list of postoffices

The Pennsylvania Soldiers Buried in the Southern Cemeteries.

The Pennsylvania State Commissioner appointed to visit the South and examine into the condition of the cemeteries wherein Pennsylvania soldiers lie buried, has made a report through Colonel Gregg, which reveals a condition of affairs anything but comforting to the relatives of the deceased The ground occupied by the Andersonville cemetery is an area of about two and a half acres, on which are buried three thousand bodies, while altogether there are not a dozen graves marked At Danville Va, the total number of Union soldiers interred is one thousand two hundred and seventy four—eighty four of whom were Pennsylvanians The graves containing the Union dead who were buried prior to October 31, 1864, at Danville, are all marked with the name, rank, company and regiment No difficulty can attend the recognition of bodies buried in this cemetery At Petersburg all the graves are marked with headboards bearing the name of the soldier rank, company and regiment, rendering recognition practicable From this it will be seen that the probabilities of removal being possible are extremely slight The State is endeavoring to make arrangements whereby such as desire can have the identified bodies removed to this State without any great expense

Terrific Gale in Buffalo—Comical Scenes

From the Express, 18th

Between one and two o clock in the afternoon the zephyrs multiply and out up like all possessed A farmer who had got his barrel of flour or whisker, or something else, in the loose board box of his bob sled, started up Main street on his way to tall timber When formal sir office in was brought to grief, the passers laughing at his calamity most jovously The wind caught his sled—threw it across the track—scattered his board box and split his barrel upon the pavement The man looked aware—but we couldn't hear what he said For more than a quarter of an hour he tugged, and tolled—sometimes in the posture of Nebuchadnuzzer, eating grass and then again on his feet—to replace his scattered box and get his barrel in position so that he could move on In the meanwhile the lookers on seemed to enjoy the discomfiture of the unfortunate man hugely, the scene being diversified by an occasional hat race and a fresh laugh at somebody else's expense

Just now a well dressed lady attempted to pass up the street, but old Boreas was about too much for her He caught her on his wings and bore her against a hitching post in front of Bull's store and there she hung—her apparel holding her as firmly to the post as if nailed there, until extricated by the timely aid of a man coline and borne into Butler's for a fourth

A female who was passing up Washington street near the corner of Exchange was rudely baudied by a zephyr It caught all her apparel and suddenly reversed every article save her stockings and gaiters passing the hem of her skirts over the top of her head—a predicament from which she could not extricate herself without assistance She put for home satisfied with the day's adventure

The gale continued during the afternoon which was by no means barren of ludicrous incidents However, everybody appeared to be happy the merry laugh and scream floating wildly upon the gale, as though the warring elements found a ready response in the human heart

Fenian Scare in Ireland.

[From the Philadelphia Ledger]

Whatever may be thought of the Fenian excitement in this country it appears to be anything else than a joke to England It is not alone in the arrest, hurried trial and transportation of every man suspected of being a Fenian leader that the English are showing their belief in the reality of a great conspiracy to throw off their yoke in Ireland Their newspapers are filled with accounts of regiments ordered off in haste from Manchester, Chester and other towns to Ireland Similar hasty transfers of troops were being made among the Irish towns So pressing was the hurry in Limerick for troops to be sent to Clonmel that the bugle call was sounded while the officers were at church, causing great alarm and excitement In Dublin the police were doubled and armed with cutlasses pickets and sentries were stationed everywhere, the coast batteries were double manned, and patrols of cavalry were scouring all the roads near the city On Christmas day, on which holiday it has been the invariable custom for the towns people to have a frolic on the war vessels below the city none but women were allowed to go on board and the men were denied everything in the shape of spirits "This looks rebellion, whether there is to be any rising or not If the Fenians have done nothing else they have certainly put England in a state of ludicrous fright

Escape of a Counterfeiter.

Last Wednesday, when the United States Court at New York was about to put upon trial Charles Julnes Roberts, the counterfeit engraver information was received that he had the night previous coolly walked out of jail with his bundle and that he was by that time far on his way to Canada The arrest of this man, says the Commercial Advertiser, cost the government a vast amount of labor, and considerable expense the proof against him was so clear that he had consented to plead guilty to a minor degree of forgery, upon being brought before the court and the extent of his counterfeit operations was enormous—it is understood that he had produced hundreds of thousands of dollars of counterfeit money during his career of over four years in this country In the absence of any explanation of the manner of his escape we may assume that he had accomplices who not only directly but indirectly aided him A very pretty woman visited him who was allowed every privilege by the keeper we are told That is all the explanation that is required The pretty woman effectually pulled the wool over the eyes of the hard hearted jailer, and a course of files, saws skeleton keys, &c effected the rest This escape so closely following that of seven other prisoners from this jail looks bad—so bad, indeed that there is an appearance of collusion about it

Sewerage in Cleveland.

Cleveland is determined to reform its sewerage, and the city engineer, John Whitelaw, has reported an elaborate plan, involving an expenditure of over $70,000, which the Leader states as follows All the drain of the city south and west of Eagle street finds its way into the river through culverts at the foot of Eagle Huron Seneca, Champlain, James, Superior and St Clair streets As a necessary consequence, the river is filled with an amount of filth which its current cannot sweep out into the lake Navigation is impeded and the Council have been obliged hitherto to make annual appropriations of $10,000 and upward for the dredging of the Cuyahoga The plan devised by Engineer Whitelaw embraces the construction of large catch basins at the feet of the above named streets, to receive the drainings from those streets, and the building of a main sewer which shall wind like a large anaconda from its outlet into the lake, under the Union passenger depot The Leader says there is no doubt the plan will be adopted

SENATOR Sumner recently received a box containing the finger of a negro accompanied with the following note

"You son of a b—— I send you a piece of one of your friends, and if that bill of yours passes I will have a piece of you" (Signed) A Union Man

The finger, which had evidently been in Alcohol for some time, was done up in a round box, addressed in a beautiful hand, and left on the door step of Senator Sumner's boarding house, where it was found by a servant girl The note was in a boyish hand, and in several instances words of it misspelled

Miss Douglas, widow of the late Senator Douglas, is to be married on the 30th inst, to Brevet Brigadier Gen Williams, A A Gen U S A, who is now on duty at the War Department.

NEW YORK Jan 18

The stock market continues unsettled. At the morning Board prices took another downward turn. The operations this morning indicate the starting of a new bear movement of some strength. The miscellaneous list sympathized with the prevailing dullness, prices being generally lower. After the Board prices showed more strength and on some of the bonds there was a slight recovery in prices. Government is quiet. There is extensive investment demand from the public for seven thirties, notwithstanding the strong effort of a morning contemporary to produce the impression that the Secretary of the Treasury has no idea of attempting the conversion of those securities. Efforts to construe statements upon this point from parties professing to be officially informed are so diversified that they kill each other and leave the public to operate in the dark as to the future value of the $830,000,000 of this class of securities. The public however still want them and are buying them at steadily advancing prices. The second series now sells eight and the third series one eighth. Gold interest bonds are dull and inclined to hold their own. Old five twenties closed one eighth lower.

The extreme ease in money continues. Loans on call are offered in large amounts at five and even four per cent. in the anxiety to find temporary employment for large idle balances. Sixty per cent. exceptions, on Government collaterals.

Gold has taken a slight downward turn owing to a slackening of the demand for covering short contracts and parties from reports that the adoption of the clause in the new loan bill authorizing a foreign loan, will be strongly urged upon Congress, and that there is some prospect of its being passed into a law. The price fluctuated during the morning between 1 0 7 8 and 1 0 7 8.

The Post's Washington special says: The Ways and Means Committee arrived at no conclusion this morning upon the loan bill. They held an hour's talk with Secretary McCulloch. It is generally believed in Washington that a bill will be introduced.

Hon Roscoe Conkling is preparing a constitutional amendment for reference to the Joint Committee on Reconstruction.

There is little doubt that the first report of the Reconstruction Committee will embody a proposition for an amendment to the Constitution.

General Gordon Granger is about to resign.

Col Henry McIndoe United States army died at Chattanooga, in this State on Sunday.

The Continental sailed yesterday for Washington Territory with 125 passengers, one of whom were women for wives of settlers in that territory. It was expected that a much larger number would have gone. Mr Meiggs entire loss is a million.

The Herald's special says: The Colombian Commission met on Monday and Tuesday and disposed of some different cases. Col Biddle for the United States, and Gomez Pinzon, of Columbia, being present. The cases disposed of were those which were unrepresented, except by Judge Hunt, of New York who was appointed to examine them, and who, finding no parole disposed a large number. There are only about thirty cases remaining and they are the most important ones. The cases growing out of the old Columbian lands, represented by S S Cox and John Sherwood, of New York are postponed until Monday next when the commission will meet again. The cases of the Pacific Steamship and United States Steamship Companies and the Panama Railroad are to be argued on printed briefs, and finally when the Board meets again.

It is understood that a bill to prevent smuggling will be introduced in the Senate to day. The clauses have mostly been made up from suggestions of the Treasury Department and the penalty for evasions of duties upon imported goods has been much heavier than ever in vogue before.

In the case of John H McCline against Horace P Whitney the Court this morning nonsuited the plaintiff, holding that the arbitration plained of purported to be what an award from a grand jury, and the evidence of what occurred before the grand jury substantially agreeing with the statement. The Judge gave defendants an extra allowance of $250, and directed the exceptions to be heard in the first instance at the General Term.

It is stated that Ben Butler's reply to General Grant is nearly printed and will soon appear with the imprint of a New York publishing house.

NEW ORLEANS Jan 18

A private letter from the Inspector of Customs at Clarksville Texas, says the 19th colored infantry, Col Davis, took all the stalls in his charge, crossed and captured Bagdad. They then began plundering the place and killing the people. The scene was indescribable. The negroes shot men down for refusing to give up their money.

Letters from Brazoore of the 9th say Bagdad was captured on the morning of the 5th. The attacking party consisted of 60 men. They captured nearly 300 prisoners, half of which turned Liberals and formed a garrison of the town, the attacking party disappearing. Liberal loss, four killed, eight wounded, Imperialists, eleven killed and twenty-seven wounded.

Gen. Crawford and Escobedo, on receipt of the intelligence, started for Bagdad.

Gen Weitzel ordered Col Hall, Assistant Revenue Officer, not to allow any one to cross until the arrival of Escobedo. Gen Crawford arrived in advance of Escobedo and assumed command, but when the latter arrived Crawford was compelled to relinquish all authority. Upon assuming command, Escobedo requested of Gen Weitzel two hundred men to preserve order, which was agreed to, and the men were ordered down.

The French corvette shelled the town on the 6th all day, without damage.

Col Mejia Escobedo, post commander, has only about a dozen reliable men in Bagdad. The rest have joined Crawford, who has them on board a steamer tied up to the bank at Bagdad.

XXXIXth Congress—First Session

SENATE—Jan 18

A joint resolution was reported and passed, distributing the writings of Mr Madison among State and Government Departments.

A bill for the admission of Colorado as a State was reported.

Mr N P Smith favored the reconstruction policy of President Johnson, opposed negro suffrage and advocated a generous policy toward the South.

Mr Wade of Ohio followed Mr Smith at great length. He said he had not intended to say anything on this great subject. He preferred to wait for the report of the committee to whom the matter had been referred for investigation, but as the Senator from Wisconsin had in his elaborate speech seemed to think fit to touch upon some of the most important parts of the subject in a manner calculated to misinform Mr Doolittle again informing us of the principles that Mr Lincoln had entered upon, a policy in regard to the admission of some of these states during the period of the last Congress. I believe that question was agitated before us, and all the arguments failed to convince me that the states could be admitted. The arguments entirely failed to convince me that the time had come when it was safe to admit any of them, therefore I contended against it, and for that I and those with whom I acted are accused of being a little factious and were said to be children terring against the will of the majority.

Now I think Mr Doolittle has made a great improvement on this subject over his predecessor although he has not yet touched upon the point where I think the difficulty begins. Mr Lincoln advised us to admit Louisiana into the United States while great bodies more than half her territory was occupied from the hostile foot of the enemy and perhaps half of the population of the State. I did not think it would be safe to admit the State upon such terms. I had not a word to say in their conduct or proceeding, nor would me in saying that such a course would be safe. You will recollect that Mr Lincoln did not recommend anything more from them than that one tenth part of them should take a certain oath, it is very difficult to take. Mr John Sherman has made an improvement upon this, for he does require that they shall abolish slavery—he requires that they shall repudiate the rebel debt—he requires that they shall recognize the right of secession—he requires that they shall agree to the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery forever. These in my judgment, are great improvements upon the system of Mr Lincoln. Did Mr Lincoln himself at that time required these things, and had the States come up to it, I believe that I then would have yielded to his wishes and given him my support.

But, sir, I have never had but one point or two in my action and that I think is, to, whether I am in a minority or not. I never intend to be tempted from it one single inch. I have lived my life up on the great principle of Justice and Right and it has borne me triumphantly through all difficulties in my legislative career. Since I had a seat in this House, I can triumphantly say that I have stood upon this floor when I had not ten men to support me against the entire Senate, and when the principle I advocated was unfortunately in minor divisions than those I announce to day. How were the whole nation startled by the idea of universal emancipation ten or fifteen, or even five years ago? I talk of not any popular doctrines! Attempt to intimidate me by the intimation that I shall be found in a minority among the people? I know the people better I think. I know that I tread the great pathway of Justice and Right. I think sir that I can say with Paul, we have fought the good fight. We are not on this ground with it. I admit we have a little further to go in the same direction, but our road is far easier than it has been.

I give the President full credit for all he has done, and honor him for the manner in which he has insisted on the great work, and, as I have already alluded to, has commenced, as it were, to complete this great work of freedom and right, he has laid the foundation deep upon the rock of Justice and right. he has determined that before the Sun all turn shall be equal, he has demanded slavery shall be abolished. I agree with him so far, and honor him that he stands firmly where he does. But, sir he has failed to put the key stone upon the arch that he has built, and I fear he leave it where it is it will go to ruin. I want when this question is once settled, to be entirely done with it. I want no more dabbling over this question of slavery. I say to President Johnson to the Democratic party and to the people of the United States that I never will yield the controversy until all men in America shall stand upon an equal footing before the law in every respect. When duty will fix it so that can be done, I will give up the controversist in which I have been engaged for so many years and no man will rejoice more than I that I have been relieved from it.

At the conclusion of Wade's speech the bill enlarging the powers of the Freedmen's Bureau was taken up and an amendment offered finding it does not find given to negroes by Gen Sherman to three years.

Mr Sumner took the floor in reply to Mr Wade.

The bill giving to the widow of President Lincoln the franking privilege for life was passed.

Executive session adjourned.

HOUSE—Jan 18

Mr Lynch of Maine reported a bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy throughout the United States which was made the special order for the 31 inst.

Mr Blaine, from the Committee on Claims, reported a resolution asking to be relieved from the consideration of all claims growing out of the appropriation or destruction of property by the army and navy in suppressing the rebellion. No definite action was taken on the subject.

Mr Lynch of Maine, offered a resolution, which was referred to the committee on Commerce, that all vessels once American, and being placed under a foreign flag or foreign register during the late war, should be treated as foreign built vessels and never again be allowed an American register.

He also introduced a resolution, which was adopted, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the House how many such vessels have been allowed new registers.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill extending suffrage in the District of Columbia.

After debate, a motion to lay the suffrage bill on the table was lost by a vote of 48 yeas against 123 nays.

The suffrage bill passed the House without any qualification by a vote of 116 yeas against 52 nays.

The House then adjourned.

A VERY STRANGE BUT TRUE FACT.—Among the multitude of medicines we have to prove and to be sold by druggists, nothing has met with such universal approval or won for itself such enthusiastic praise as the Old Homestead Wild Cherry Bitters. Unlike most other Bitters, they are no more nor not in no way. The medicinal ingredients being re-distilled with the liquor, produce a strongly medicated double-distilled article as soft and as pure as the best of wine. Masses of everybody buy them everywhere by bottles, dozens and the people will have none of them. Nothing does they pass with their cheeks the stomach purify the blood and prevent disease. They are a certain cure for Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Scrofula and all blood diseases. They cure Chronic Diarrhoea, Pimples and Blotches on the face. For coughs and colds they are superior to any Cherry Pectoral. To persons of sedentary habits and those who have a tendency to loss of strength or want of appetite these Bitters will impart tone and vigorous energy to the system. They restore the appetite and strength to the body. For Nervous Complaints and Depression of Spirits and that general prostration known as the blues or Liver Bitters will be found invaluable. Remember and purchase the Old Homestead Wild Cherry Bitters manufactured by Dr J. B. Fingerhut & Co. New York City. Sold by Druggists and Dealers everywhere.

Meeting at Petroleum Center.

There will be a meeting held at the Rochester House, Petroleum Center, on Saturday evening, Jan. 20th, at 7 o'clock, to appoint delegates to go to Washington for the purpose of getting a reduction in the revenue tax on crude oil. All persons interested are requested to attend.

Wm. Spencer.

NEW COUNTY MEETING—GREAT ENTHUSIASM—ANOTHER MEETING ON MONDAY NIGHT—LET EVERY CITIZEN TURN OUT!

Pursuant to call, a meeting was held at Crittenden Hall, last evening, to listen to the report of the Committee appointed at the previous meeting, in relation to the same object.

Wm. S. Morris, Esq., was called to the chair, and W. W. Bliss appointed Secretary.

Inspirited addresses were made by Messrs. B. S. Allister, J. H. Baker, Clark Ewing, J. H. Jones, John Bryan, L. S. French and others, and listed great enthusiasm.

The announcement that a telegraphic dispatch had been received from Westfield stating that the road was to be immediately built between Titusville and Titusville, was received with tumultuous applause. There was an evident determination on the part of the meeting to make a vigorous and determined effort to procure the requisite legislation for a new county. It is utterly indispensable to the continued rapid growth and prosperity of our city, and can be had for the asking.

Upon motion, it was resolved to adjourn the meeting till Monday evening next, when it is desired that all classes of citizens shall be represented, as final action will be taken and a committee of citizens appointed to carry the object out. Every business man in Titusville and by his presence and his influence this important work.

Oil on Petroleum—Immediate Action Demanded.

At the last business meeting of the Board of Trade, a general convention of oil producers was called to assemble in Titusville on the 1st of February. It seems to us the convention is too far deferred to effect the desired purpose. It should be held within a week at farthest. The Oil Commissioners, we learn, are to make their report to Congress on Tuesday next. Our neighbors of Oil City and Pittsburg are alive to the importance of this question, and have appointed delegations to visit Washington on Monday next. Wm. L. Lay and others of Oil City, Mr. Irvin and others of Pittsburg, Messrs. Phillips Bros., of Stevenson Farm, and other gentlemen comprise these delegations so far as reported. Oil producers at Petroleum Centre and on Benninghoff Run are to meet to-morrow evening with a similar object. We would urge upon the oil refining interest of this section the importance of immediate concerted action in the same direction.

Almost a Fire.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered on the rear part of Thomas Goodwin's grocery store, Spring street. As the flames had made but little progress when they were easily suppressed. On examination, it was found that oil had been poured over the materials at the rear part of the building to facilitate combustion, and but for the timely discovery the entire structure would have soon been in flames. In such an event it might have been next impossible to save the block, which consists entirely of wooden buildings, and extends to the Merchant's Hotel. The inadequate facilities of our fire department have been sadly demonstrated on more than one occasion. It will be seen that the Vigilance Committee have commenced an investigation of this matter, and are determined to ferret out the incendiaries. See advertisement in another place.

Whole Items.—Our correspondent writes well 47; Holmden Farm, stopped last Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m. It was yielding 300 barrels a day at the time.

The grocery store was burnt in Prather City on Friday night, but the fire did no further damage.

The new Catholic church is to be dedicated on Friday. The Bishop of this diocese is to conduct the services.

The Record says: Well No 2, lease 5, Copeland farm, Morey farm, commenced pumping Wednesday morning. The stream of oil is steady, there is every indication of a well, equal to 3 or No. 4 on the same lease.

The Reading Room.—A good deal of comment is made in regard to the suspension of the Reading Room, and this action seems to be generally charged to the Culver Literary Association. But such is not the fact. The Reading Room was suspended on the 1st of January by a force of limitation on the part of the original donation. It is the intention of the new association to revive and sustain it in connection with the proposed public library, if proper encouragement is given by the community at large. It is a creditable undertaking and we hope it will meet with the appreciation which it deserves.

Another Tubing.—Now that the construction of the Pithole and Titusville oil tubing is a foregone conclusion, a similar enterprise is being agitated here to transport the oil from Petroleum Center. We believe the air-line distance between the two places is 20 miles. As a tubing is to be laid from Petroleum Center to Rouseville, it is highly important that our citizens should avail themselves of the same means of competition. A member of the Board of Trade offered yesterday to guarantee the laying of the pipe within sixty days after the act of way shall have been secured. Now, go to work, somebody, and put the thing through!

Mr. Charles Cennell, who has just returned from attending U. S. District Court at Pittsburg, informs us that those two notorious dealers in counterfeit money whom he arrested about the middle of last September for passing spurious United States currency, viz: Jared Lilly, and Jack Treat, alias Charles Hanning, were both convicted and found guilty. They will be sentenced on the close of the term. Judge McCandless is presiding, and knows how to deal with such offenders of the law.

The Kiesler & Kent dramatic company are performing to crowded houses in Jamestown under the management of Bob. Hamilton.

The Royalty, as Titusville Situation—Prospects.

The question of Royalty per barrel in this vicinity seems to be gradually adjusting itself. It is a matter of too much importance to stockholders in companies possessing the land interest, for their directors to longer sit on the fence and refuse to take such action as the case demands.

In the discussion of this subject heretofore though our columns, it has been shown that leases with very few exceptions, could not afford to work their wells for the half the oil—in fact that they have lost a great deal of money in a faithful endeavor to do so; that by a reduction of the royalty to one-fourth, companies making production would be likely to receive more than at present, because so many more wells would be enabled to continue operations; and that unless such reduction were made, there would soon be little or no receipts from which to declare dividends.

It appears that some of the companies are taking a proper view of the thing, and that they are acting upon this view with promptness and good faith—we should be glad to be able to say as much of all; but Mrs. Partington says there is as much difference in folks as any body, and it seems to be very much the same with companies. We understand that a permanent reduction to one-fourth has been made to all leases on the Kingsland Flats, situated immediately below the Watson Flats; that the Parker Petroleum Company reserve a royalty of only one-fourth in all new leases; and that in some other instances, important reductions have been made.

In our advertising columns will be found a notice from the Pennsylvania Oil Creek Petroleum Company of Philadelphia, addressed to the lessees on Watson's Flats, and offering a temporary reduction to one-fourth, from the 15th of January to the 1st of July, 1866, to all such as will "case the wells on their respective lots, and continue them so cased during the period of their lease or ownership, such casing to be well and properly done, and the metals or materials used to be strong and substantial."

We have heard much of the sharpness of the members of the legal profession in the rectangular city; but the word "Fathum," is written all over this proposition in such glaring colors that we do not believe it possible even for a Philadelphia lawyer to make out so much as a small "success" from it. It is very evident that the framers of these resolutions know very little about the actual results and contingencies involved in the provisions which they seek to impose upon the lessees, and it is equally evident that they will not "strike fire" until they reduce their theories to practice.

I. The time is too limited to make it of any particular object to start the wells. The notice was not published until the 15th; it could not reach the lessees so as to enable them to commence operations before the 1st of February; and few of them could possibly derive any benefit from the reduction before the middle of February, and many not before the 1st of March. This would allow them four months to run, months and a half in which they could experiment with their new arrangements and learn, probably, about how they could be worked at the greatest profit or the smallest loss; with the certainty of returning, at the end of that time, to the old condition of one-half royalty.

II. The season of the year during which it is proposed to make the reduction, is when the expense of working is greatest and the prices of oil the least. Comment is unnecessary. If the directors of the Pennsylvania & O. C. Petroleum Company do not know these facts, they have not yet learned the alphabet of the oil business.

III. These propositions require the lessees to incur an expense of two hundred and fifty or three hundred dollars for case-tubing, and that casing shall remain in the wells during the term or period of the lease, or until the territory is abandoned. This is the unkindest cut of all, and it is difficult to understand how a body of sensible business men could make such a proposition to another body of business men supposed to be equally sensible, and certainly very sensitive from having sunk several thousand dollars each in the endeavor to realize something from their investments, especially when their expensive efforts have redounded to the profit of those making the proposition.

The lessees held a meeting on Wednesday evening to take the matter into consideration. Their action has not publicly transpired; but we are assured that the proposition will not be entertained for a moment. We cannot doubt, however, that the directors will make a real and substantial reduction of the royalty on this territory, when the case is represented to them in the proper light.

Harper Donation Party.—There was a large attendance at Petroleum Hall on Wednesday evening, a good time and a handsome contribution for the benefit of Rev. J. L. Hayes.

The amount donated was four hundred dollars. Messrs. Russ & Farrel presented a nice office chair, Mr. G. W. Hull a silver goblet, and a Mr. Smith of Erie some books on Theology.

Re-Opening of the Public Schools.—Prof. Stewart announces that the schools will be re-opened on Monday morning, 22nd inst., two departments in Waite's Block, and four in Broad Office Row.

A full and punctual attendance is desired. There will be the same teachers and classes as before.

Notes on Local Matters.

The last business meeting of the Board of Trade, a general convention of oil producers was called to assemble in Titusville on the 1st of February. It seems to us the convention is too far deferred to effect the desired purpose. It should be held within a week at farthest. The Oil Commissioners, we learn, are to make their report to Congress on Tuesday next. Our neighbors of Oil City and Pittsburg are alive to the importance of this question, and have appointed delegations to visit Washington on Monday next. Wm. L. Lay and others of Oil City, Mr. Irvin and others of Pittsburg, Messrs. Phillips Bros., of Stevenson Farm, and other gentlemen comprise these delegations so far as reported. Oil producers at Petroleum Centre and on Benninghoff Run are to meet to-morrow evening with a similar object. We would urge upon the oil refining interest of this section the importance of immediate concerted action in the same direction.

Almost a Fire.—About 2 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered on the rear part of Thomas Goodwin's grocery store, Spring street. As the flames had made but little progress when they were easily suppressed. On examination, it was found that oil had been poured over the materials at the rear part of the building to facilitate combustion, and but for the timely discovery the entire structure would have soon been in flames. In such an event it might have been next impossible to save the block, which consists entirely of wooden buildings, and extends to the Merchant's Hotel. The inadequate facilities of our fire department have been sadly demonstrated on more than one occasion. It will be seen that the Vigilance Committee have commenced an investigation of this matter, and are determined to ferret out the incendiaries. See advertisement in another place.

Whole Items.—Our correspondent writes well 47; Holmden Farm; stopped last Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m. It was yielding 300 barrels a day at the time.

The grocery store was burnt in Prather City on Friday night, but the fire did no further damage.

The new Catholic church is to be dedicated on Friday. The Bishop of this diocese is to conduct the services.

The Record says: Well No 2, lease 5, Copeland farm, Morey farm, commenced pumping Wednesday morning. The stream of oil is steady, there is every indication of a well, equal to 3 or No. 4 on the same lease.

The Reading Room.—A good deal of comment is made in regard to the suspension of the Reading Room, and this action seems to be generally charged to the Culver Literary Association. But such is not the fact. The Reading Room was suspended on the 1st of January by a force of limitation on the part of the original donation. It is the intention of the new association to revive and sustain it in connection with the proposed public library, if proper encouragement is given by the community at large. It is a creditable undertaking and we hope it will meet with the appreciation which it deserves.

Another Tubing.—Now that the construction of the Pithole and Titusville oil tubing is a foregone conclusion, a similar enterprise is being agitated here to transport the oil from Petroleum Center. We believe the air-line distance between the two places is 20 miles. As a tubing is to be laid from Petroleum Center to Rouseville, it is highly important that our citizens should avail themselves of the same means of competition. A member of the Board of Trade offered yesterday to guarantee the laying of the pipe within sixty days after the act of way shall have been secured. Now, go to work, somebody, and put the thing through!

Mr. Charles Cennell, who has just returned from attending U. S. District Court at Pittsburg, informs us that those two notorious dealers in counterfeit money whom he arrested about the middle of last September for passing spurious United States currency, viz: Jared Lilly, and Jack Treat, alias Charles Hanning, were both convicted and found guilty. They will be sentenced on the close of the term. Judge McCandless is presiding, and knows how to deal with such offenders of the law.

The Kiesler & Kent dramatic company are performing to crowded houses in Jamestown under the management of Bob. Hamilton.

Harper Donation Party.—There was a large attendance at Petroleum Hall on Wednesday evening, a good time and a handsome contribution for the benefit of Rev. J. L. Hayes.

The amount donated was four hundred dollars. Messrs. Russ & Farrel presented a nice office chair, Mr. G. W. Hull a silver goblet, and a Mr. Smith of Erie some books on Theology.

Re-Opening of the Public Schools.—Prof. Stewart announces that the schools will be re-opened on Monday morning, 22nd inst., two departments in Waite's Block, and four in Broad Office Row.

A full and punctual attendance is desired. There will be the same teachers and classes as before.

The Fashions.—We are in receipt of Madame Demorest's Monthly Magazine and Mirror of Fashion, one of the finest American publications, and particularly prized by the ladies. It is splendidly illustrated with engravings, and contains several original stories and poems, and matters of great practical value to the household. The mammoth fashion plates and full size patterns are worth the price of a year's subscription to any lady of good taste. The subscription price is $3 per year. Send to the publisher, 473 Broadway, N. Y.

Ladies' Festival.—The ladies of the St. James Memorial church (Episcopal) hold a festival this evening at the Appleton Collegiate Institute, for the purpose of raising funds for upholstering the pews of the church. It is understood that they are to set out a nice supper with lots of good things to tempt the palates of their friends who shall give them a call. The public generally are invited to attend and have an agreeable time, or in the words of the announcement, to "see an attractive object worthy of exhibition."

We are indebted to Hon. M. B. Lowry for a copy of the Annual Report of the Auditor General.

The Council of Meadville have purchased a steam fire engine at a cost of $5,000.

Titusville Morning Herald.

"Nip and Chuck."

OR THE WAY SALLY "TURNED JACK."

From the Yankee Blade.

"Give me them ore keards, Jim, sudden!"

"What for?"

"Why, gall darn it! I have comes Sally Oliphant up the cow-path, and if she sees 'em she'll travel to camp-meetin' quicker'n goose goose, and tell mammy how 'at we're gamblin'. What's the stakes?"

"I got 'em."

"Well, stow 'em to me—come now—I had onthe best hearts when we quit, and could 'er beat you dead as a hoss-fly. Besides Sally is right on top of us, I tell you, and if you go kickin' up an etruetion I shall lose her entire, and her daddy's rocks into the bargain. That's right—seven dollars jackin' seventy-five cents—you keep the change!—Now git in the kibbord—quick!—look out for the sweetmeats)—and I'll tell my intended I've been practisin' legerdemain, like that French fellur, Herr Alexander, consequently I'll be Herr Jack Robinson."

As Jack said this he seated himself on a milk piggin, and commenced shuffling the "keards," when a bouncing girl—sixteen and plump as a partridge—entered the door, clad in a homespun frock, and forked lightning apron—her fairy feet in red morocco shoes, and her cheeks painted with pokeberry juice. It was Sally Oliphant.

"Ah, Jack," said she, slightly pouting, "you do keep teazin' me so marry you, when you know you don't love me a mite nor a gnatin."

"I tell you I couldn't set and hear such language as that stee—and sir—the keards a dreptin' all over the floor.

"Don't love you! Why, Sally," says I, jukin' her haud, my legs trembling astonishin', "I love you more'n any other gill in the settlement—sure. Now there's Sol Soda—I never seen her in my life—but mammy says she ain't worth her weight in soap; Sue Griffin's head looks like a bundle of shavings, and as for Betsy McClintock—she don't know enough to wash herself when she's bit by a gill-skipper."

"Is them your sentiments?" says Sally.

"They just are," says I (and I were goin' to speak of marriage, but I was afeered I'd stew her pins, and didn't.) Well—after I'd gathered up the keards what I dropped, Sally and I both sat down on a couple of chairs, and I proposed a game.

"What shall it be?" sez I.

"I don't know," sez Sally, "anything."

"Can you play Nip and Chuck?" sez I.

"Nip and what?" sez she.

"Chuck!"

"Chuck?"

"Yes," sez I, "it's a very interesting game."

"Show me how," sez Sally.

"Most certainly," sez I.

So I took the keards and shuffled 'em up, like if it was a very different job and she cut 'em, and looked mighty pleased.

"Now, Sally," sez I, after I'd got everything ready, "shut your eyes and open your mouth and you'll soon discover the greatest trick ever heard of or did yet."

The deed gal done as I told her, and I must say, I never seed such a beautiful sight in my life afore—isn't likely ever will again! Her mouth just stood open, as her white teeth glistened like a sulfer full of candles. I gazed at her edexactly one minit, thirteen seconds and four ticks! Which I then—put my arms around her body, and signed my fine to hers—a emblem to woodpeckers. Creation—and the deluge! how she flopped and flounded!—just like a young alligator—and immediately afterwards a rumpus ensued!

"Concern you, Jack Robinson," sed she, her eyes sparkin' like OUR barn yard "to bite," and with that she jerked loose, took off her shoe, and fire way at all! hitting me over the head and shoulders and ears, wisn't very refeshin', to say the leastwaysis. But I want agin to bother enough to tell you; so I relaxed to with her—got the blade holt—and at it we went—so good a gal, so good a boy!

Now, Sally had the advantage of me, kase I had on my stocky suit—her homespun "russia" wasn't ventilated—and every time I'd attempt to give her a hear hike, she'd grab my cute ribs, and try to rip 'em out. Konstiptuer! How spunky she were.

Well, we stood around that are room like old generals for about fale minits—flippin' over the pieces and nicely squibbin of each other—when I made a pass at her head-gear, and broke a pair of new Shinkey side-combs and three strings of cut glass beads, which went to caperin' and dancin' and rumblig tates over the floor. That made Sally more spunky nigh, and the way she did slap me over the mouth and smeller with the "Babes in the Woods," were a caution to weasels. Rip—rip—went my satinet trowsers; whiz—whiz—went her striped bumbazine and the next thing I knew I didn't know Nothin'!

By easing up occasionally, when I'd heard my cocoadds up, she had flopped me over the milk piggin, and were silently stackin' for a short-handled frying-pan, to give me a "full Columbia," when I felt certain I hadn't shot of during the engagement, stuck up head out of the kibbord—his mouth all daubed over with preserves—and yelled:

"Hallo, here—what's trumps?"

Sally jumped like lightion, dropped the frying-pan quicker than a cow eat flop her tail.

"What's trumps?" sez she. "Why Jack is trumps, the trumps, I've just turned him up!"

But here comes the darlin' now—all rigged out in silk—and if you won't say anything of "Nip and Chuck," I'll introduce you.

All Sorts.

—The Atlanta Intelligencer says: A singular mistake was made by both compositor and proof reader, in an article of ours in yesterday's paper, headed "New England Scheming Again." We wrote of that section of the Union, that it was a "ruthless, persecuting enemy," but it appeared in the Intelligencer as a "ruthless, prosecuting enemy."

—It turns out that the supposed intended resignation of Senator Wade is an idiotic sham, which claims to have been discharged from the Navy Yard. He has been labouring around Congress several days, and has several times been turned away by the keepers of the House.

CARVER'S DOUBLE ACTING OIL PUMP. This pump consists of two barrels, one within the other, and each having its separate valves and acting independently of the other. The action is DOUBLE, and as much oil is raised at the DOWNWARD as at the UPWARD STROKE. THE DOUBLE SET OF VALVES allows the FREE ESCAPE of gas through one or the other of the barrels, without affecting the pumping and thus enables the pump to work without obstruction in wells where the common pump cannot be worked at all. AN IMPROVED PISTON of double the strength of the old one has been invented which will be supplied FREE to all parties using the old fitting valve in these pumps. These pumps have now been used on over one hundred wells, and we give below a few of the certificates we have received, and ask a careful perusal of the same. SHUTTEN, HART & BURROWS, Agts. Over Petroleum Bank, Titusville, Pa.

TESTIMONIALS: TITUSVILLE, Nov. 27, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: I am now using Carver's Double Acting Oil Pump in a well belonging to the Pennsylvania Oil Co., and can pump more oil with less power than with the common pump, and without interruption from gas, breaking of sucker rods, &c. It is far superior to any other pump in my estimation, for pumping oil, and has done not effect its working. N. J. TOMPKINS, Superintendent.

ELLENVILLE WELLS, Watson Flats, Oil Creek, Pa., Nov. 22, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: I have used and been acquainted with the working of Carver's Double Acting Oil Pump in our wells and in other wells during the past summer and fall. I consider this pump far superior to the pumps in common use in oil wells, and have no hesitation in saying that it will raise double the amount of fluid from a well with a given amount of steam than can be raised with a common pump. JOSEPH A. SCOTT, Supt. Ross Farm.

OFFICE OF ATNA OIL CO., Oil Creek, Pa., Nov. 21, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: I have used in our wells and been acquainted with Carver's Double Acting Oil Pump for the last five months. In one of our wells it was impossible to work the common pump on account of the gas. Carver's pump worked without difficulty in this well. I think Carver's pump will pump twice as much oil as any other pump with the same amount of steam. CHAS. LANING, Supt.

UNION WELL, West Hickory Run, Pa., Nov. 24, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: We pumped the Union Well, on West Hickory Run, about twelve days with the pump ordinarily used in oil wells and could not obtain to exceed one barrel of oil per day. About the 12th of Sept last we put one of Carver's Double Acting Petroleum Pumps into the well, and the quantity of oil was immediately increased, and the well is now producing 35 barrels per day. T. M. FOSTER.

CHAMPION WELL, Pioneer Run, Oil Creek, Pa., Nov. 24, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: This well was pumped about six weeks with the common working barrel, giving an average production of about 30 barrels per day. The gas in this well was so strong as to keep us idle about one half the time repairing sucker rods, walking beams &c. We then introduced Carver's Double Acting Tri-action Pump and pumped it eleven weeks without being detained for repairs, &c., to exceed two days in all. During this time the production of the well was brought up to an average of 70 barrels per day, and on some days 80 barrels. This pump worked without any interruption from gas. GEO. C. BARTLETT, Supt.

BURKEY FARM, Petroleum Center, Nov. 30, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: This is to certify that I commenced operating the Mc Clintock Well on Thursday the first of April last, and after testing it for three months, in which time it was tubed over 50 times—ascertained that the most it would produce was ten barrels per day, not to exceed four days per week, being disabled by breakage of sucker rods and machinery, at least two days each week. I then put in one of Carver's Patent Double Acting Pumps, which increased the daily yield within two weeks to 25 barrels per day, which is the present production per day. In the course of two months since the sucker rods have been entirely out of use, even the slightest breakage occurred. I have at present eight of these pumps in operation and would use no other. N. OFFICE OF THE MAPLE SHADE OIL CO., Oil Creek, Nov. 20, 1865. Messrs. Burtis, Hart & Burrows: We are using Carver's Pump in the Coquette and Potts wells, and propose to introduce them into all our wells, as we consider them to be the best pumps made for pumping oil, and will therefore use no other.
